

Students Rap With Senator; Important Issues Raised

Robert Packwood talks with teachers and students after the rap session last Friday afternoon held in the Clatsop gymnasium. Senator Packwood discussed congressional activities and gave views on major issues raised from the crowd.

Robert Packwood, junior senator from Oregon, rapped with students and teachers from Clatsop College for about an hour last Friday, Feb. 12. Senator Packwood gave a short talk on the day in the life of a senator before opening the floor for a question and answer period.

The first topic brought up was birth control. Packwood said he was in favor of planned parenthood and legalized abortion, and said that we should have this right. He also said on over-population, "If we never have any more people here (Oregon) I will consider that a mark of progress."

A question was brought up about the Vietnam War. Packwood said that it would take another year and a half to get out of Vietnam. He also spoke of a bill to give the president the power to declare war, using his own discretion.

Speaking on the seniority system in congress, Packwood said, "Half the congressmen were born before the turn of the century." He said that this system will be beaten within the next five years.

Packwood also discussed such issues as welfare, revenue sharing, and Spiro Agnew.

Speaking on Agnew he said he would reserve his opinion until the vice president's term was up. He did quip however that, "He's a kind of a man's man. He's the kind of man you would like to sit down on Saturday night and play poker with."

It could possibly be safer than playing golf with him.

Adult Student Housing Unit Planned For Students

Plans for a 100-unit apartment complex for Clatsop College students are beginning to roll again, with the purchase of approximately three acres of land at Third and Olney.

Bob Pearson, Adult Student Housing, Inc., vice president, announced the selection of the site, and said, "The benefits of college housing programs will now definitely be available to CCC students this fall."

It was also announced that the opening bids will be next Tuesday, February 23, with plans calling for the completion of 40 units by Sept. 1, 1971, well in advance of the opening day of Fall term.

The complex is to be located on the Youngs Bay side of Olney Avenue, and is just north of the old Youngs Bay bridge. City bus schedules connect the college with the site.

ASH president Fred Bender said that this property is zoned C-5, which permits multiple-unit housing. In two previous attempts to build in Astoria, ASH met difficulty, because the city planning commission rejected applications for permits for multiple-unit construction. The permits were required because zoning prohibited multiple-unit construction in those areas.

Site of the Adult Student Housing unit is approximately three acres in the area of Third and Olney. Unit will cover house in foreground and area to left, where motel is now situated. The 100-unit apartment complex will receive bids on Tuesday, Feb. 23, at ASH's headquarters in Portland.

The federal government's Housing and Urban Development agency granted ASH a $1 million loan for the Clatsop College project. ASH also has a unit at Pacific University in Forest Grove, and another under construction at Mt. Hood Community College.

Student Trust Questioned

One of the most talked-about subjects during student council meetings this school year has been that of having the school open on weekends.

Proponents of the idea feel that the student union, gymnasium and library should be opened to student use during the afternoon and early evening hours Saturday and Sunday. This would allow students not only a place to study on the weekends, but also an economical recreation spot. Students whose permanent homes are out of the area would have the facilities to get together with friends.

The idea of employing work-study students as supervisors seems to be a good one, and most administration personnel feel that the program could be reality by next year. . . . IF. And that "if" involves student responsibility.

This is not to say that student responsibility is a new top of discussion. Several years ago, one of the big college pranks was knocking out street lamp bulbs. Most often, it was on the spur of the moment, perhaps upon a dare. However, these people failed to realize that their "game" was costly to other people.

Last week, someone (not necessarily a college student) did extensive damage to the piano in the gymnasium (see photo at right). In its new condition, the piano is worthless.

The purpose behind such an act is very unclear. Immaturity may play a big part in such an act, but whatever the motive, it is that type of act that makes the administration hesitate granting more responsibility.

Prof. Says Students Must Be Concerned

By Doug Sheaffer

In a recent interview with Don Doumitt of the Political Science department, the following was disclosed concerning the role of the college student today in the "game" called life.

Why Do We Need A Change?

Doumitt: "First of all, many students are not really aware of the problems around us. He is not aware nor does he care. Our whole purpose here is to become informed of the problems facing us today and to find meaningful answers. They (the students) seem to have the attitude of 'We're not affected, so why care?' What they don't realize is that our way of life is involved in these problems. The whole democratic process is on the line. We need change, a sharp turn-in values, coupled with a spiritual and esthetic awareness."

"Regarding our life-style I allude to a recent statement by Ralph Nader who referred to our ever growing gross national product as contributing to our gross national misery. We've got to be more conservative. Do we want to continue in this direction? Do we really need a higher standard of living? If we do, then we must suffer the consequences, such as pollution, over-production, over-consumption, etc."

What Can We Do?

Doumitt: "Get into an organization like FISH or VISTA, or the Clatsop Environmental Council, or any number of citizen groups who prefer to have a social conscience. If we work individually, we are too weak and ineffective. Like a voice in the wilderness, one is not heard. Also, organizations like the Young Republicans or Democrats are not always challenging, but can be made so with more student participation. The only hope is to work within the system. The best way to be had, is do nothing."

This Is Responsibility?

Clatsop College Students Form Environmental Group

By Jim Roberts

About three months ago, the Clatsop Environmental Council was formed. The purpose of the CEC is stated as, "To preserve, protect, and improve the environment in Clatsop County." Clatsop County students, organized by Kirsti Uunila, were instrumental in the formation of this group. Today the council has blossomed into a diverse organization of over 400 people, headed by Capt. Robert Elsonho, a Columbia River bar pilot.

The original students organized with the express purpose of stopping the proposed aluminum plant construction in Warrenton. "After all," says Kirsti, "at least one-third of the people living in Clatsop County are under 21 years of age. The youth should have a say, if anyone should, about the kind of environment they are going to live in."

The CEC has said it realizes businesses have rights just as an individual, and it knows it cannot oppose a smelter just for the sake of preventing industrialization. Instead, the council has made it their goal that if a smelter is built, it must do no irreparable harm to the area.

"What it means," says Capt. Elsonho, "is that we intend to take no risks with our estuaries, no risks with our farmers, no risks to even one blade of grass. It is not asking too much; indeed, it is our right to have these guarantees."

"If a business can guarantee no environmental damage," continued Capt. Elsonho, "then our responsibility to our home, and to our young people who will live here, will be clear. There are not enough areas like ours to let it ever become like areas of others we all know of."

Ever wonder what a student lounge should consist of? A pool table, shuffle board, ping pong table, eating area, and comfortable furniture. But, there is something else that a place of relaxation should have. That is friendly people.

I'm not saying that our student lounge doesn't have its share of friendly people, but it could use more. Observe how many people are grouped together in cliques. Quite a few, huh? Notice how some people are sitting alone? Why not make an effort to say "Hello"?

A simple "Hello" can change a person's whole outlook on life. Maybe even give a lift to someone who was feeling down . . .

MAN'S FIRST MISTAKE

Look at the results. Conceivably we are all doomed by our own cleverness and devotion to escalation. Our land, a few decades ago was dotted with crystal-clear lakes and faced with streams of cool, clear water. The soil produced wholesome food. Citizens had easy access to rural scenes of calm beauty.

Now lakes and streams are cesspools. Air is noxious with smoke, soot and smog. Land and water are poisoned with pesticides, so that birds, bees, fish, and cattle are dying. The countryside is a dump for garbage and old automobiles.

Is this progress? We have made so much progress that we cannot even speak with confidence about the prospect of human survival. We have blighted the promise of this century and converted the miracles of science into a chamber of horrors where a nuclear holocaust could become a death-trap for the entire human race. If we continue feverishly planning and inventing and building and rebuilding for more of this progress, we will achieve the level of total life, Death!

Clatsop Women Enjoy Today's Pant Suit Styles

By Lesley Cowan

The fashion forecast for 1971 is the pant suit. Women are wearing pant suits everywhere, and it appears that the pant suit will not be one of those styles that quickly disappears from the fashion scene. It has gotten to the point where restaurants, offices and other places open to the public have had to take notice as to how their feel about the pant suit, whether or not it is appropriate wear for their establishment. How has this affected the women of Clatsop College?

Obviously most of the female students at Clatsop College are free to wear whatever they please, but this is not so for some of the girls on work study and the women employed at the college as secretaries. The specific guidelines differ in different departments of the school.

The bookstore seems to be just about the only place where "anything goes". Most of the other departments frown on jeans or definitely disapprove on that amount of casualness.

Pants suits have been noticed on secretaries and work study students in the Vo-Tech building, the library, the business office and the English department, to name a few. The Office of Student Affairs is one department where the pant suit is out of place at any time.

Communications Dept. To Begin At Clatsop

By Jeff Daly

I recently had a chat with one of our fine teachers, Mr. Don Scallan of the speech department. He explained to me the plans for a Communication Department that will eventually blossom out into an individual area.

The actual idea for a Communications Department was authorized last May by the Liberal Arts and Science Division. The areas that will be covered in this department will compose of English Composition, Speech, Journalism, Languages, and Radio and TV. The Radio and TV will not cover the technical area, but rather a program that will be easily transferred to another university.

It's hoped that this will turn out to be an actual department which will be able to work with all the other departments to help make students more effective communicators. For example, Mr. Berens (History) and Mr. Rupp (English) have been relating their classes to the same topics. This way the students will be able to understand a wider area of the subject, and it can be presented in a better manner. Many ideas have already been put into effect and many more are planned. This way the teachers will find the best way to present a complete and efficient program.

After producing the actual department, classes will be available to students with a particular major. If there is a group of students majoring in Political Science, the classes will all be tied together to present actual material of importance instead of just a required course, which none of us have to take.

When the Communications Department is put into effect, it will be closely tied with all the other transfer schools. This way all the courses you will receive at Clatsop will be transferred with ease to the school of your choice. Clatsop will be in close relationship with all the other schools, so they will present the best courses to us, the students.

This is an idea that Mr. Scallan has had in the back of his mind for the last five years. He has just waited for the right time to present his idea and let interest take it the rest of the way. The program has already been put into effect in a small way and it's hoped by the start of next year, the program will be in full progress. Mr. Scallan said, "This way we can teach the students what they want to be taught, and this will be of more benefit to them than another four years of school."

Venereal Diseases Explained

A recent guest speaker for Mr. Brown's morning Health class was Bill Berg, Health Education advisor of Public Welfare, from the Clatsop County Health department.

Mr. Berg explained the dangers of venereal diseases and how they have reached epidemic proportions throughout the world. Also, some statistics were quoted from the Oregon State Health department.

Did you know that Multnomah County ranks number one in the state for venereal cases? Clatsop County is running a close second? Or that if you have the disease you can be treated without anybody, like your folks, knowing you have the disease?

An open discussion was held after a brief film on venereal disease. The discussion ended with Mr. Berg mentioning the fact that the Clatsop County Health department is starting a Planned Parenthood Program. Any married college student, or one planning to be married, could contact him or any member of the staff at the Clatsop County Health department for further information.

The Young Have Problems Gaining Responsibilities

By Jeff Daly

Unfortunately there is much doubt about the youth of today—from my parents, your parents, and most of the older generation. Due to publicity and events that have occurred, the younger generation is often referred to as irresponsible. Some of the criticism has been well earned, not by all of us, but by people even WE don't like to have included in our generation.

We can also doubt that we will be trusted and given responsibility even when we have proven we deserve it. Maybe that is the generation gap. I recently had an experience that taught me new respect for adults; and, I hope, gave them a little more belief in me and the youth of today.

I had a big problem and needed some special help. I was in desperate need of storage space for my antique tools. I found the most people that I went to weren't too sure of me in the circumstances. I went to Mr. Richard Nelson of the U.S. National Bank and he solved my problem without any doubt in his mind. He turned over to me the building I needed at a reasonable rent, giving me full responsibility with little more than a comment that he would trust me.

Since he gave me his trust, I hope to deserve it. I was now to be responsible for other people's property.

Maybe if more adults could be like Mr. Nelson—maybe if more young people could accept the responsibility and then prove their ability to take it—we would all be in a heckuva lot better shape.

CCC Indians End Losing Streak

Win Four Of Last Five Games

Clatsop College won their fourth game in their last five starts last Saturday night, as they downed Judson Baptist 83-80.

Dave Bue was the "big gun" for the Indians again Saturday night, pounding the bucket for 32 points. Leading scorer for Judson Baptist was Tim Collier, who contributed 24.

Earlier in the season, Judson Baptist defeated Clatsop, 89-87, but the shooting of Bue proved to be too much this time.

Individual scoring:

Clatsop: Dave Bue 32; Greg Birdeno 19; Kent Peterson 9; Mark Fick 6; Ken Rubens 6; Jim Samuelson 6; Jeff Salo 5.

Judson Baptist: Collins 24; Euhus 16; Vilwok 15; Williams 14; Crumley 6; Kerr 4; Martin 2.

Clatsop Downed By Columbia Christian

"A couple of last minute mistakes cost us the game," remarked Clatsop Coach Lehman Hall, in referring to Friday night's loss to Columbia Christian. The Indians led throughout most of the battle, but lost it in the last moments, 69-64.

Dave Bue led the Indians in scoring for the evening, netting 20 points.

At the end of the first half, Columbia Christian held a five-point advantage, 36-31.

Individual scoring:

Clatsop: Dave Bue 20; Kent Peterson 16; Jim Samuelson 12; Greg Birdeno 8; Mike Woodruff 4; Ken Rubens 2; Jeff Salo 2.

Columbia Christian: Dyk 22; Cowart 20; Mills 12; Holloway 10; Haskins 3.

From The Bench

By Jeff Daly

The Clatsop cagers have been having their share of trouble during the basketball season. So far injuries have been the number one team against Clatsop College. Clatsop's tall men, Mark Fick, Dave Bue and Kent Peterson have been plagued with injuries throughout the season. The recurrences each game has made the difference between a win or loss. But worry no more. The Indians put it together on the weekend of Feb. 8th to win their first two games, defeating Clatsop, Linn-Benton 89-87, and Lane 84-90. Behind the whole game, Clatsop put together their best teamwork to take the lead and win in the last minute against Linn-Benton. With six seconds in the game and behind by one point, Birdeno put in a free throw and won the game with a technical foul shot. Bue picked out 58 points for a two game total. The basketball season is nearly over and there is one more home game left. Watch YOUR TEAM tomorrow at the armory win a game for you!

A few weeks ago, Steve Widmer and I were going around the school collecting signatures for the blood drive. We were trying to get 100 names to show the Red Cross office we would have enough interest to make it worthwhile. I saw Betsy Schoenlein sitting at a desk and I knew she would be happy to give a pint of blood. I walked up to her and said, "Betsy, would you like to sign this?" but before I even had a chance to finish she asked, "Is it for or against?"

The first term secretary, Nancy Nordstrom, transferred from the end of the term to OCE. Well that happens, so we nominated another secretary for the second term. Paula Schbarack was the new secretary for a week until she had to drop out of school due to illness. It was time to get another secretary. I had my visions-mini-skirt-long blonde hair, see-through blouse and all of the other secretary qualifications. Another election was held but it was a write-in. I voted for her Soph secretary, only—HE—signed when he heard my name. I guess Martin Bue didn't want to wear a mini-skirt and see-through blouse.

Daly's ended up being the winner in the Intramural Basketball Tournament. Only they weren't undefeated, they had one loss. Over The Hill Gang had two losses, one from Daly's and another from the team which beat Daly's, Forestry I. The championship round is in progress, and who's going to become the real champ? Daly's, Over the Hill, Forestry I and there are six other teams. Place your bet at the scorekeeper's bench at noon in the gym.

Just because basketball and wrestling are winding up, that doesn't mean that Clatsop College's sports are over. More sports are coming up, including baseball, track, golf and maybe more intramurals. Everyone is welcome to try out for a sport, and you'll most likely have a good chance. Check with the PE department if you're interested in a particular field and if you have an interest to continue with an intramural sport, see athletic director Jack Brown.

Lane Falls To Indians, 94-90

The Clatsop Indians returned to action Saturday night, Feb. 6, to turn back Lane Community College, 94-90. After squeaking by Linn-Benton by one point the evening before.

Action at the Astoria armory saw Dave Bue lead the Indians with 29 points, and Willis Jones of Lane led all scorers, dropping 20 in.

At half time the score was tied 47-47.

Lane was able to score more from the field with 40 field goals, with Clatsop sans 32. However, the Indians made up the difference from the free throw line, where they made 41 of 43 attempts, as Lane could only muster 10 points in 16 attempts.

Clatsop's opportunity to score from the charity stripe came about as Lane was charged with 27 fouls, and the Indians were whistled only 14 times for the evening.

Individual scoring:

Clatsop: Dave Bue 28; Greg Birdeno 16; Mark Fick 15; Kent Peterson 13; Jim Samuelson 9; Jeff Salo 8; Ken Rubens 5.

Lane: Jones 30; Haby 19; Taylor 19; King 9; Armitage 6; Simpson 3; Gibson 2; Woodruff 2.

Clatsop Romps To 117-87 Victory

With all 10 Clatsop players scoring in the first half, the Indians completely dominated play at Columbia College in Portland last Tuesday night, romping to a 117-87 victory over the Cavaliers.

Coach Lehman Hall compared the Indians with the way they looked when these two teams met earlier in the season. "We had 21 turnovers in the first half the other time, and we were only ahead by one point at halftime. This game, we played a better game, both in shooting and ball control." The Indians held a 26 point advantage at the half, 59-33.

Five Clatsop players scored in double figures, with Greg Birdeno leading the way with 19. He was followed closely by Dave Bue and Jim Samuelson, each dropping in 18. Concord was led by Chuck Gerken with 26 points.

Individual scoring:

Clatsop: Greg Birdeno 19; Dave Bue 18; Jim Samuelson 18; Kent Peterson 15; Jeff Salo 15; Mark Fick 8; Ken Rubens 7; Mike Woodruff 7; Jack Benson 5; Mike Winklund 5.

Columbia: Kerken 26; Asmus

13; Baeus 11; Visser 11; Carlson 7; Hansen 7; Lierman 6; Gaiser 2; Thompson 2.

Linn-Benton Downed, 88-87

After being sidelined nearly the entire weekend before, Dave Bue scored 30 points to guide the Clatsop Indians to victory over Linn-Benton in basketball action at the armory on Friday, Feb. 5. 25 of Bue's points came in the all-important second half.

Linn-Benton dominated first half action, and was able to claim an eight point advantage at the half, 42-34. But the Indians rallied back to victory to snap a 14 game losing streak.

Individual scoring:

Clatsop: Dave Bue 30; Greg Birdeno 14; Jim Samuelson 14; Mark Fick 11; Jeff Salo 9; Kent Peterson 8; Ken Rubens 2.

Linn-Benton: Cornutt 25; De-Koning 23; Williamson 12; Ticer 10; Labroue 9; Vorderstrasse 8.
